White Water Rafting & Bungee jumping over the Tana River

Do you have this list of things you have sworn to do before you attain a certain age in life? Could White water rafting and Bungee Jumping be part of the list? Why not hit two birds with one stone? You can plan to combine the two adrenaline drills at Sagana.

Only 90kms from Nairobi, Savage Wilderness base camp offers these adventure sports from whence they may be launched. Rafting trip takes about four to five hours on a 16km stretch on River Tana depending on the water levels. The adventure starts with a 3 km stretch of easy class II and III white water, where there is plenty of opportunity to practice the paddle skills required to run the lower part of the river. A 6 km section follows with an hour or so of relaxation to view the abundance of bird life around. The final 7 km of river, back to the campsite starts with some easy class III waters where paddle commands are gone over again. It is now time for the 3 big rapids (class IV and V) with names like Captains Folly, Can of Worms, (taking its name from its four 90 degree bends in succession) and Sphincter Flexor. Numerous smaller rapids bring one on to the last big Spasm; a series of drops over $\frac{3}{4}$ km with a big surprise half way through. We reach the drop off point/campsite about where a full barbeque lunch awaits us.

After reliving the feeling of achievement on the rapid flowing river, take on round two of the bungee jump. Fix elastic cords around your ankles and leap, screaming, into space, 60m above a foaming River Tana.

You managed to do these two on the same day? Then you just acquired a status of momentarily defying gravity and heights. Whatever your objective was, you can successfully say you truly achieved!

Expected time of arrival in Nairobi is 1800hrs.
